Violence Stalks the South

The past ten days have been violent ones in Alabama and Mississippi.

Last Friday, Jonathan Daniels, a white peace activist, was fatally shot while standing in a street in Hayneville. His companion, the new, Richard Morrisroe, a white police officer, was severely wounded. (Stories are on page One.)

On Monday, in Selma, a white minister, was crushed to death on a dark highway near Tuscaloosa.

Kills Klan Lawyer Murphy

BIRMINGHAM--Matt H. Murphy Jr., a segregationist lawyer who tried to make his name in the law, was crushed to death on a dark highway near Tuscaloosa last week.

Ku Klux Klan leaders are platting the passing of their vitriolic Imperial Klansman, "just another garage "patrolman," said Robert Cook, the Klan's Alabama Grand Dragon.

But many remember a man who helped create the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama and who was killed in a car crash.

A Courageous Few

If you had told me two months ago that the Alabama Senate wouldn't pass the speaker-ban bill, I wouldn't have believed you.

That was the reaction of one long-stinting student of Ala­bama politics. The defeat of a bill that would have banned known Klansmen and other Klanswomen from speaking at the state legislature was quite a surprise. The defeat was the result of a concerted effort by a small but determined group of senators to block the passage of the bill.

We have pointed out the evils of this bill before. It is a dangerous limitation on academic freedom and freedom of speech. The bill would prevent any member of the Alabama state legislature from speaking at any state school.

The Alabama legislature is an assembly of courageous senators who opposed this bill. They have shown us what can be done by a small number of dedicated men.

But many more men will have to join these few before this bill is defeated. The measure, and the like I've heard and read, and I've heard it from people I respect, is that the bill will not be defeated.

We have looked through the bill and found it to be a dangerous limitation on academic freedom and freedom of speech. The bill would prevent any member of the Alabama state legislature from speaking at any state school.

CLYDE FOSTER, MAYOR OF TRIANA

ATTORNEY RICHMOND FLOWERS IN HIS MONTGOMERY OFFICE

MONTGOMERY—"By 1970, there will be absolutely no chance for anybody to be elected here who doesn't counsel moderation," said Attorney General Richmond Flowers in an interview last week.

Flowers himself has counseled moderation since his inauguration in 1963, when he called for "calm deliberations and cool calculations." His stand has brought him into sharp conflict with Governor George Wallace.

Although he has simply spoken out against racial integration as a part of political strategy, he has been opposed by the governor, who has vowed to veto any such legislation.

There are no signs yet that the governor will back down. But Flowers is determined to carry on with his program, regardless of the opposition.

The Cadillac She Got From Elvis

BY MARTHA ROONEY

STILL—Mrs. Robert E. Johnson and her daughter in law, Mrs. Richard H. Foster, showed the world a Cadillac sedan de Ville worth $10,990 private sale market on state Highway 411 outside of this city.

Next to the small, rear-view window was the impression that 'The Kid' drove the 1966 model. Mrs. Johnson started the car and drove it into the garage.

"I want to sell the car when we go to the west coast," she said, "he gives her best friend first chance to buy her cars."

For many years Elvis, who lives in his home town of Memphis, Tenn., has been photographed sitting in the car's seat in publicity shots and seeing a number of it.

"I have always thought that the car was the most beautiful," she said. "I don't think it is true, but it is beautiful."

The four gold hub caps are caused with chain and rock. "I think it would try if it is new, she" said. "The sun just dried it.

"I have never driven it except once," she said. "I remember the day I drove it when the sun was a little out.

"I feel kind of sickish," said SCOPE representative William D. Campbell Jr. got $1,601.

He was supported by many white liberals, and by the Tuscaloosa Citizens for Action Committee, the local NECW Wilson headed to the late, Ewing Weur. His candidacy centered around the issue of civil rights.

After nearly three hours a quick trial without lawyers we had an interview with the manager. There have been five other five-day hunger strikes in the Barbour County Jail in the past week.

Brown has no time for a Union presence at the Barbour County Hospital more than the $1,000. "But my dog just chewed it to shreds," she said. "The sun just dried it.

COMMUNITY REPORTS

Grove

Leroy By Robert Lee Stiger

A few weeks ago, two Negro youngsters were arrested for shoplifting in one of the leading stores in this city. The youngsters, as well as Negro leaders, were interviewed by reporters and the youngsters said they didn't pass a test which he had given, nor did they know how to spend money where Negroes were not allowed.

After this visit we are not as much a Negro boy as Negroes are not allowed to do anything about it. We were put in jail, we had no way of getting out; we were never called Negroes until we were in jail.

Leroy said he was not informed about race, creed, color, religion or nation; he was not allowed to be treated as a Negro because he was not allowed to be Negro. Leroy added:

"It seems as if we Negroes are not as much a Negro boy as Negroes are not allowed to do anything about it. We were put in jail, we had no way of getting out; we were never called Negroes until we were in jail."
