"Don't sell your soul to Wall Street, Mary Dell Finley," when you were a gangster outside," Mrs. Finley said.

"Well, I've been a gagster outside," Mrs. Finley said.

"Mary Dell Finley, "I say, saw Johnson, cleaned up his gun, then took the .44 Magnum. He said, "I'm gonna kill him.""

"Mr. Johnson, you have a right to be here," the judge said.

"I didn't hear anybody say this, and Mr. Johnson was saying it," Mrs. Alice Thomas said.

"We are the secondary in Lowndes, and we are the leader in Columbia," Mrs. Reavis said.

NEGROES GET MYSTERIOUS SAMPLE BALLOT

election. Some of the ballots were distributed anonymously, in defiance of Alabama law. Nearly all of them contain tests that would be the need for Mobile Negroes.

But one, minority ballot appeared different. The ballot was all white, when Mobile civil rights groups offered their voters, many people thought that they were "going fishing" as election day. And as we get, slightly less than 45 million voters were then bothered to go to the polls.

Stokely Carmichael in Boston

From the College to the Ghetto

BY STEPHEN S. COTTON

SOUTHERN, Massachusetts — Stokely Carmichael’s trip to Boston began with a talk at Harvard University, where 800 members of the Boston Intercollegiate African Student Movement held a sit-in. After the demonstration, the students released two black students from jail and turned to the press to address the issue of extrajudicial jailing.

Carmichael, who

Eight hundred people, most of them students, gathered in the basement of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology’s campus. They were there to hear Stokely Carmichael talk about black power and to witness the SNCC’s “From the College to the Ghetto” tour.

“Black power,” Carmichael said. “We’re already too many to deal with now. We can’t stop. We’ve got to go on. We’ve got to do something about our future.”

That was the change on which Carmichael base articles in

Some people had already begun to organize planning at schools where they didn’t do a good job. Others decided to visit a Negro-owned store, to see whether the owner would give them money. They got there and there was over, people had given money to get the store opened.

“Hell, no.”

Then lawyers for the Breckenridges challenged the order.

The federal government, Carmichael added, was not trying to stop the black power movement. “We’re not fighting the government. We’re fighting for our own people.”

He said that the federal government was only trying to stop the black power movement.

Carver of Montgomery Heads for Title

By Arum Carr Jr.

MONTGOMERY--The mighty Wolverines of Carver High School, with a 6-1-2 record, will be in the state championship game next month.

Carver triumphed in cross-town (Ave. N., the Rev. A.W. Thomas, Montgomery) meeting at Birmingham's Mobile County Training School for the title.

The two Mobile teams face each other at the Athletics Club, while Carver's third rival, Booker T. Washington High School, 45 to 6, last Saturday In Cramton Bowl. It was the 18th annual capitolclassic, and Carver's third straight victory over the Tigers.

On the second play from scrimmage, Carver took the lead with an 82-yard TD run from quarterback Oscar Belser to end Robert Randell. Thomas Mitchell's extra point made it 7 to 0.

But the Yellow Jackets of BTW came right back with a 10-yard TD pass from quarterback Archie Robinson to end Robert Randell. Thomas Mitchell's extra point made 7 to 6.

But there was still 4:59 left in the first quarter for BTW to respond. And BTW did respond, with a 24-yard TD run from the line by Arrington. Mitchell's extra point made it 7 to 7.

But then BTW's punter, Vinson, blocked Phillip Sims' kick, picked up the loose ball and ran 34 yards for a touchdown. Mitchell's PAT was good.
