Derrick Holloway's Death: A County Reacts

BY JOHN GWEN
HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. - Last Jan. 12, it snowed almost six inches in Marshall County, and a local Marion minister who was visiting the Holloway family in their two-bedroom apartment, Derrick Holloway, was driving his car home from work when he was killed. The family was not aware of the delay in getting telephone service, so they called in advance to warn them that he was running late. The Reverend was due to leave the Holloways' house, but the family thought he had just left. That was two days later.

MRS. LOUISE LOWE
Mrs. Louise Lowe, a black telephone operator who was busy none the worse for wear, was in the Holloway family's apartment late Monday evening. She was there when the Reverend arrived. She said he was in good health, and he had a good time. She was worried about the weather because the Holloway family had been coming into the Marshall County area for years.

GUYOT AND FREEDOM DEMOCRATS
WORK UP FROM THE GRASSROOTS

BY KITTY FINCH JACOBSON, MD, and the American Medical Women's Association. The purpose of the event was to bring together people from different backgrounds to discuss and address the issues faced by medical professionals in the healthcare industry.

The event was held at the Marriott Hotel in Washington, D.C., and included a panel discussion, a keynote address, and a networking reception. The keynote speaker was Dr. Alice Dopson, a prominent health policy researcher and advocate for women's health rights. The panel was moderated by Dr. Mary Ann Umer, a prominent educator and researcher in the field of medical ethics.

The discussion covered a range of topics, including the challenges faced by women in accessing healthcare, the importance of diversity and inclusion in the medical profession, and the impact of healthcare policies on public health. The panelists shared their insights and experiences, and the audience engaged in lively and informative discussions.

The networking reception provided an opportunity for attendees to connect and exchange ideas. Many attendees reported feeling inspired and motivated by the event, and expressed a desire to continue working towards improving healthcare for all.

Overall, the event was a success, and the organizers plan to hold similar events in the future to continue the conversation around women's health and medical ethics.

GUYOT ET AL. This paper examines the role of Guyot and the Freedom Democrats in the civil rights movement in Mississippi. It argues that Guyot and the Freedom Democrats played a crucial role in organizing and mobilizing people to fight for civil rights.

The paper begins by providing historical context, outlining the circumstances that led to the launch of the Freedom Democratic Party (FDP) in Mississippi in 1964. It then goes on to detail the role of Guyot and the Freedom Democrats in the FDP's efforts to challenge the all-white Mississippi Democratic Party and gain representation in Congress.

The paper concludes by emphasizing the importance of Guyot and the Freedom Democrats in the civil rights movement and their contributions to the struggle for equality and justice. It also discusses the ongoing relevance of their work today and the need for continued vigilance to ensure that the gains made during this period are not lost.
Hungrу Children
In Birmingham

BY BOB LAMBERT
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.--For more than a month now, Birmingham has been worrying about hungry children in its schools. According to some reports, about 1,600 children in Birmingham schools were going without lunches every day.

According to the survey, more than 2,100 children have been found to be hungry in the schools of the city system. It was said that the schools are genuinely Negro. Of the 14 classrooms surveyed, it was considered to be in "desperation" need of help. In some schools, one-third to one-half of the children were reported to be hungry.

The lunch programs are always on a "first come, first served" basis. About the last week another 1,200 Birmingham students were suffering.

Ladу Charged
Police Beating

BY EDWARD BUCKINGHAM
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.--Mrs. Hinds has been accused of beating a Negro girl while crossing the street. The lady, Mrs. Katie Ray, was convicted of being drunk and disorderly and fined $25 last week in Dixon's Cafe. Mrs. Ray said that the beating occurred when she was trying to pull the girl and drag her through the kitchen.

A local woman told the story this morning, saying that Mrs. Ray refused to let her help the girl. Mrs. Hinds backed up her testimony.

"I did," explained one person, "when I was up there and I didn't want to help. I didn't want to help."

"Sure, why not read the court record?" asked Mr. Jenkins, "I will show him the report from the telephone company."

"But, Mr. Jenkins," replied Mr. Adams, "why not present the evidence of the Negro principal on the point that the report was not true?"

"Because," said Mr. Jenkins, "I have a case on this point that the report was not true."

"You can make a deal before the evidence is presented," said Mr. Adams.

"I'll take your offer," said Mr. Jenkins.

"You'll get a good chance to set this thing right," said Mr. Adams.

"But it is the matter of statistics that produced the most variation of the statement," said Mr. Jenkins.

"I'll be ready," said Mr. Adams, "but I'll be sure to do it.

"It is not only the schools themselves, but also the school system, that must do their part," said Mr. Jenkins.
