Farming in U. Springs Means Dodging Bullets

BY MARVIN HALE

SOWETO, S. Africa--When farmers started working the land again last month, they knew they were taking a risk. The area is a hotbed of opposition to Apartheid and many of the farmers have been targeted by the police.

The police have been using live bullets, tear gas, and rubber bullets to disperse crowds of demonstrators who have been gathering to protest against the government's policies.

In the past, farmers have been shot, beaten, and even killed by the police. But they continue to work the land, despite the danger.

If you're planning to visit the United States, you might want to consider visiting the city of Madison, Wisconsin. The city is known for its historic sites and its beautiful parks.

One of the most popular sites is the Old Capitol, which was built in 1856. The building is now used as a museum and is home to several artifacts from the 19th century.

Another popular site is the University of Wisconsin-Madison, which is located in the heart of the city. The university is known for its research and teaching programs.

For those who enjoy nature, the city has several parks, including the Yahara River State Natural Area and the Dane County Arboretum.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.--It was really happening--all-black St. Jude was being shut down, and the people there were being torn apart.

“The police and Negroes were running from the scene of a store break-in, with police firing shots into the crowd, killing a Negro boy and wounding several people,” said a Negro who was at the scene.

Police have been patrolling the area for several days in an attempt to keep the peace.

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH VIET NAM

BY RENNY CLAY MOORE

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH VIET NAM--The name that’s going to be heard in Viet Nam, where only real cowards operate or even talk about going, is the name of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. And the reason is simple: his name is in the news.

Many Viet Namese, who have seen both the truth and the lies, are in favor of his name and his message for peace.

Dr. King has not only spoken about peace in Viet Nam, but he has also tried to bring it about.

"You people must respect our rights TOO!"

"You people should pull yourselves up by your own bootstraps!"

"You people are just looking for trouble!"

"You people are too short-tempered!"

"You people have made your point—now SLOW DOWN!

"You people haven't interpreted everything in terms of race!"

When a lot of white people talk about blacks, it's always "You people do this, or why do you people do that?

And, as Brumsic Brandon Jr. observes in these cartoons, what white people say is almost as foolish as the way they say it.

Laundry Can Be Fun

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Today's washeteria has become a fun gathering place for young people.

Little children come with their mothers, or with older brothers and sisters. They bring their toys, friends, and even their dogs for the 60-minute cycle.

"Sometimes I come because I like it," said 11-year-old Clinton Boyd, "but I always bring my little brother, because it's fun to him."
