Students at Tuskegee, an all-black university in Alabama, wanted an end to segregation on campus and the right to vote. They launched a sit-in on March 30, 1968, demanding changes that included more black faculty, better food, and the right to assemble. The administration and faculty responded with a series of actions to quell the protest, but the activists continued to push for their demands. The sit-in became a symbol of the growing civil rights movement in the 1960s.
Miss. Schools Repay Tuition

JACKSON, Miss.—In 1964, many people had to be taught in the public schools, but according to a recent report, the children were not allowed to attend the public schools.

This requirement was later ruled unlawful. A new federal court has ruled that the蜷不等加g加to wilderness parks, national and the state parks, and some private agencies.

The new federal court has ruled that these agencies should be allowed to continue their wilderness parks, national and the state parks, and some private agencies.

Selma, Ala. (Beth Oxox)

Tuscaloosa Discusses U.S. Food Programs

BY ETHEL THOMAS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—The U.S. Department of Agriculture’s office in Tuscaloosa, Ala., is discussing the food programs for Tuscaloosa, Ala.

However, Tuscaloosa, Ala., has not been discussed by the Tuscaloosa, Ala., school board.

The school board has not discussed the food programs for Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Tuscaloosa, Ala., is not discussing the food programs for Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Tuscaloosa, Ala., is not discussing the food programs for Tuscaloosa, Ala.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Continued from Page One)

Rubber Neck Suespit, And Heres Too

Atlanta, Ga.

The State Bureau of Investigation has concluded that the Atlanta, Ga. Police Department did not have jurisdiction over the case.

In his past year as president of the Atlantic, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Birmingham Folks Want Water, Better Streets

By BOB LARABEE

BERMIGHT, Ala.—Since 1967, people in the Lee County area have been asking for better streets and drinking water. They all say the same thing, "We want some water."

They want things to be better. They want things to be more reasonable.

The Birmingham News reported.

Birmingham

Rhode Island

New York City

BENJAMIN WARD

WILMINGTON, Furness, Thoroughbreds, Inc.

The new employees started work the first day of the month.

The tobacco workers, members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have been using the tobacco workers’ hall as a meeting place.

The workers have been discussing their grievances with the help of the NAACP officials.

The workers have also been discussing their grievances with the help of the NAACP officials.

brooklyn, N.Y.

Four women began a new fight for the right to vote this month in the state of New York.

The women are seeking the right to vote in the state of New York.

The women are seeking the right to vote in the state of New York.

Florida

Troy, Ala.

Francis Upton and other members of the Lee County black community have been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

The Lee County black community has been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

The Lee County black community has been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

Atlanta, Ga.

The Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Tuscaloosa

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Birmingham

Since 1967, people in the Lee County area have been asking for better streets and drinking water. They all say the same thing, "We want some water."

They want things to be better. They want things to be more reasonable.

The Birmingham News reported.

Birmingham

Rhode Island

New York City

BENJAMIN WARD

WILMINGTON, Furness, Thoroughbreds, Inc.

The new employees started work the first day of the month.

The tobacco workers, members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have been using the tobacco workers’ hall as a meeting place.

The workers have been discussing their grievances with the help of the NAACP officials.

The workers have also been discussing their grievances with the help of the NAACP officials.

brooklyn, N.Y.

Four women began a new fight for the right to vote this month in the state of New York.

The women are seeking the right to vote in the state of New York.

The women are seeking the right to vote in the state of New York.

Florida

Troy, Ala.

Francis Upton and other members of the Lee County black community have been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

The Lee County black community has been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

The Lee County black community has been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

Atlanta, Ga.

The Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Tuscaloosa

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Birmingham

Since 1967, people in the Lee County area have been asking for better streets and drinking water. They all say the same thing, "We want some water."

They want things to be better. They want things to be more reasonable.

The Birmingham News reported.

Birmingham

Rhode Island

New York City

BENJAMIN WARD

WILMINGTON, Furness, Thoroughbreds, Inc.

The new employees started work the first day of the month.

The tobacco workers, members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have been using the tobacco workers’ hall as a meeting place.

The workers have been discussing their grievances with the help of the NAACP officials.

The workers have also been discussing their grievances with the help of the NAACP officials.

brooklyn, N.Y.

Four women began a new fight for the right to vote this month in the state of New York.

The women are seeking the right to vote in the state of New York.

The women are seeking the right to vote in the state of New York.

Florida

Troy, Ala.

Francis Upton and other members of the Lee County black community have been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

The Lee County black community has been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

The Lee County black community has been working to improve the quality of life in the Lee County area.

Atlanta, Ga.

The Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

According to the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the NAACP, Benjamine Ward has promised to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Tuscaloosa

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

The Tuscaloosa County school board has decided to hire a full-time investigator to handle the case.

Birmingham

Since 1967, people in the Lee County area have been asking for better streets and drinking water. They all say the same thing, "We want some water."

They want things to be better. They want things to be more reasonable.

The Birmingham News reported.
TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—Almost 10,000 enthusiastic University of Alabama students and faculty members turned out to see and hear U.S. Senator Robert F. Kennedy, keynote speaker in last week's student symposium, "Emphasis '68."

Kennedy, who arrived two hours late for his speech, was accompanied by Colonel John Glenn, one of the first U.S. astronauts.

Photos by Jim Peppler
BELZONI, Miss.--"If we lose this fight, we'll be back 100 years," said a worker at the Belzoni Head Start center operated by Friends of the Children of Mississippi. But, she added, I like having something to fight for.

BY ESTELLE FINE

PAGE FOUR THE SOUTHERN COURIER MARCH 30-31, 1968

FCM--a six-county, privately-financed Head Start program--has been struggling to keep its centers open for more than a year.

In December, 1966, federal anti-poverty officials refused to re-fund CDGM (Child Development Group of Mississippi) Head Start centers in the six counties--Humphreys, LeFlore, Clarke, Neshoba, Wayne, and Greene.

But, at a meeting in Jackson, the parents decided not to give up. They formed FCM to continue operating the Head Start centers in their counties.

Despite a desperate shortage of money, FCM is still alive. But, said director Fred Mangrum, it can't continue much longer without federal money.

The children of the Belzoni Head Start center are enrolled in Head Start for three weeks per month. Last year, FCM invited a team of six doctors to examine the children.

Late last month, when talks with MAP still amounted to getting nowhere, FCM applied to OEO for $12,500.

"We've tried (negotiating with MAP) don't get hired for anything else. We're just going to keep fighting," said Mangrum. "We've tried for over a year. We've demonstrated and protested. We've come back."

"We're the type of people that just won't get discouraged," said Mangrum. "Now we're having classes for the teachers."

The full-time staff members at the Belzoni center are paid $15 a week for three weeks per month. The part-time employees get $25.00 a week for three weeks per month.

"We lost our grant from OEO," said Mangrum. "Now we have to get money directly from OEO." The full-time staff members at the center in Belzoni are paid $1,000,000. This year--and FCM was told it probably couldn't get any money from OEO.

The full-time workers used to get $25.00 a week for three weeks per month. Now, they said, they just don't have enough to support their families.

"We've tried for over a year. We've come back," she said. "We've tried to get things scheduled. We're just going to keep fighting."

Last December, she said, many workers decided to quit. But they reformed FCM to continue operating the Head Start centers in their counties.

FUL-TIME STAFF MEMBERS AT THE BELZONI CENTER

"We're the type of people that just won't get discouraged," said Mangrum. "Now we're having classes for the teachers."

The full-time staff members at the Belzoni center are paid $15 a week for three weeks per month. The part-time employees get $25.00 a week for three weeks per month.

"We lost our grant from OEO," said Mangrum. "Now we have to get money directly from OEO." The full-time staff members at the center in Belzoni are paid $1,000,000. This year--and FCM was told it probably couldn't get any money from OEO.

The full-time workers used to get $25.00 a week for three weeks per month. Now, they said, they just don't have enough to support their families.

"We've tried for over a year. We've come back," she said. "We've tried to get things scheduled. We're just going to keep fighting."

Last December, she said, many workers decided to quit. But they reformed FCM to continue operating the Head Start centers in their counties.
AHSA Still Thinks It's 'Dangerous'

By Michael Wilson

March 29, 1968

The southern Courier

AFTER A WEEKEND-

In -

White-Black Games
-

Tues.

FAI LING TO ANNOUNCE

why it is so "dangerous":

The Alabama State Commissioner of Education, Dr. Jack Howard, has said that the White-Black Games are "dangerous".

Would School Integration Cut Costs?

CONTINUED FROM PAGE FIVE

Tuskegee, Ala.--"A right legal case," said one young man. "We believe in their principle," he said. "We want to be a first-class institution," said another.

"We're tired of this law that's not working," said one. "We want to be a national university," said another.

The poster is a silent witness to the fact that there are many people in the community who are demanding equality and opportunity in education.

Another poster is saying, "We demand that the school system, the mayor and the citizens of Tuskegee support us in our efforts to achieve equality in education.

The posters are part of a national campaign to end segregation in schools and to ensure that African Americans have equal access to educational opportunities.

The campaign is supported by many organizations, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

Despite the challenges, the campaign continues to grow in strength and influence, and the posters serve as a reminder of the ongoing struggle for justice and equality.