Whites Oppose Mobile Zoning

BY JOHN EDDIGTON

MOLINE, Ala.-Last month's special meeting of the Mobile County school board was in an uproar as the opening prayer began.

As county Schools Superintendent Cranford Burns began the prayer, he stated, "We know not how the drama of the Poor People's campaign-the last dream of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and perhaps the last hope of his organization, SCLC-will turn out. But at least the first phase of the campaign is over, and the second phase-direct action-has begun.

Protest Teacher Firing, School Conditions

Holly Springs Students Walk Out

BY JOHN BROWN

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss.-"You want to know what I have in my head? I have to follow me out of my shoes," said Mr. Fant, the school's athletic director.

This was no idle boast by the educator, but a reflection of the frustration experienced by many students at the secondary level. Mr. Fant and others have sought to change the attitudes of some of the students, but they have met with little success.

The attitude of the students is reflected in their performance in the classroom. The students have been known to disrupt classes by laughing, shouting, or even walking out.

The problem is not limited to Holly Springs. There are similar problems in other school districts throughout the state. The solutions proposed include increased discipline, better teacher-student relationships, and more parent involvement.

SOUTHERN CARRIAGE MARCHES THROUGH NORFOLK, Va.

"Mr. Fant, we've talked about this before," said Mr. Fant, "but we can't keep doing it. We need to find a way to discipline these kids."

As for the teachers, they are frustrated with the situation. They feel that they are not being given the support they need to deal with the problem.

"We've tried everything," said one teacher, "and it just keeps getting worse."

The SCLC leaders say that the point of the campaign is to tell the nation, especially the Southern congressmen, that the nation's poor people can't wait any longer for jobs, housing, medical care, and a decent education. The point of the campaign is to force the congressmen to do something about the problems of the poor people.

"We're not asking for the moon," said Mr. Fant, "we're just asking for a fair shake."

The SCLC leaders say that the next phase of the campaign will be a national demonstration. They say that they will take their message to the streets of the nation's capital and beyond.

"We're not going to give up," said Mr. Fant, "we're going to fight until we win."

For more information, contact the SCLC headquarters in Mobile, Alabama.
Opinions Differ in Russell County

Brewer Says He Still Backs Wallace

By MICHAEL L. LOTTMAN

The Southern Courier

The governor of Alabama, George C. Wallace, has said he will back John B. Anderson for the presidency on the American Independent ticket. At the same time, he has said he will endorse his own candidate for the Alabama governor's race.

Wallace's announcement came as a surprise to many people in his state, who had expected him to support Anderson. Wallace has been a strong supporter of Anderson in recent weeks, and he has spoken at several of Anderson's campaign events.

Wallace's decision to back Anderson has sparked a debate in Alabama, with many people expressing concern about the impact of Anderson's candidacy on Wallace's own chances in the governor's race. Some have suggested that Wallace's support for Anderson could hurt his chances of re-election, while others have argued that Wallace's endorsement of Anderson could help him in the race.

Wallace has denied that his decision to back Anderson is motivated by political considerations. "I have always been a strong supporter of John B. Anderson," he said. "He has been a consistent voice for the principles of limited government and fiscal responsibility, and I believe that he can help to bring about the changes that are necessary for our country to succeed."
Poverty Power In Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A confrontation is a two-way street. In Washington, the nation's poor and the nation's "mainstream" are meeting each other—in Resurrection City, the Capitol, and elsewhere. Hopefully, both sides are learning something.

When the shanty-town by the Washington Monument is completed, it will house about 3,000 participants in the Poor People's Campaign.

Photos by Jim Peppler
Southern Campaigners Tell

Why They Joined the Caravan

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Southern arm of the Poor People's Campaign arrived in Washington this week, with the caravan from Alabama arriving first.

The caravan has been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and has been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.

Some of the marchers have been on the road for two weeks, traveling from Atlanta, Georgia, to Washington, D.C., and have been called a "poor people's march." The campaign leaders believe that the march will help bring attention to the issues facing poor people in the United States.
who has been working for Tucker more votes, I'm pretty sure I'll win."
explained, "and we've been told to wait till next year ever since."

The road was prom­
ing their road. "The road was prom­

Nelson, the challenger, admitted that

But he said county money has been al­

in every county in the state.

To file a claim, you should

In Old Kingston Community
"Road Back to Glory"

by Franklin Howard
PRATTVILLE, Ala. — The prominently
community, once the county seat of Autauga County, state of Alabama, is where you will find Old Kingston.

The Freedom Quilting Bee

is a handcrafted cooperative composed of rural people working to­gether to better their lives.

The quilts they make come in black and white, two or three solid color­s, or in mixtures of prints and solids. The crop-out is made for all colors for all products, whether.

---

Radio Station WAPX

has instituted The Pastor's Study

BROADCAST DAILY
MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY
6:30 TO 7:00 P.M.

THE PASTOR'S STUDY is a daily devotional presented under the auspices and with in cooperation with the Montgomery-Memphis Baptist Association. It is dedicated to bring to you the finest in religious music, with a program of faith and inspiration and a program of faith and inspiration.

WAPX Radio

1600 k.c. in Montgomery

Prof. Val

Palmist, Crystal & Psychic Reader

WILL TELL YOU EVERYTHING YOU KNOW

Tell's you all about your twists and how to overcome them

Lucky Happiness Success

Knows Where You Have Been Lost, What You Have Lost, and the Place Where You May Be Found. He Has Helped Many People Find Lost Items and Help with Unanswerable Questions. He Has Helped Many People Find Lost Items and Help with Unanswerable Questions.

WANT TO KNOW WHAT YOU KNOW

WANT TO KNOW WHAT YOU KNOW

WWW.WAPX.COM

WHAT IS YOUR NAME?

WHAT IS YOUR NAME?

WHERE ARE YOU?

WHERE ARE YOU?

WHY IS THIS HAPPENING?

WHY IS THIS HAPPENING?

WHY WORRY?

WHEN IT IS ALL SO UNNECESSARY

BISHOP GAYLOR

SUGGESTS WORRY, Woes Gravely, Explains Fully! Calling You By Name, ENSARING YOUR Past Life, Your Present Conditions and Your Future To Be!

ARE THERE NO SECRETS? "Hidden Power to the Lifter Mind." He Has Helped Many of the Hidden Mysteries of the State of Alabama, who bears 20 years a reputation for his

Located in An Office Building In The Heart of Town!

Has given away my office address, because I have nothing to hide. I live and work in this office. If you come to the office, you may be able to talk to me.

Look for Sign

Phone

WHY WORRY?

WHEN IT IS ALL SO UNNECESSARY

BISHOP GAYLOR

SUGGESTS WORRY, Woes Gravely, Explains Fully! Calling You By Name, ENSARING YOUR Past Life, Your Present Conditions and Your Future To Be!

ARE THERE NO SECRETS? "Hidden Power to the Lifter Mind." He Has Helped Many of the Hidden Mysteries of the State of Alabama, who bears 20 years a reputation for his

Located in An Office Building In The Heart of Town!

Has given away my office address, because I have nothing to hide. I live and work in this office. If you come to the office, you may be able to talk to me.

Look for Sign

Phone
In a letter to Cordin Billingsley, Jr., the postman, the Rev. Jesse said, "I find your postman work is a God-given ministry. Each evening as you enter each of our homes--then convince the people to have their special needs, and then convince them that's the only way to go."

They call me the "Street Doctor," said the Rev. Jesse. "I have a special interest in the streets, and walking on the streets doesn't have a (street) light--we're falling."

"We are coming to ask for redistribution," said the Rev. Jesse. "We need to have the law that we can have a meeting to discuss what we want, put it on paper and get it somewhere. That's the only way you can say, 'We need something.'"

For a moment, it didn't look like anything was going to get organized at the meeting. Dismissed, Mr. Shuttlesworth, I'm sorry, but we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."

"If you don't want to go, we can't do anything about it..."