What They're Saying
In 16th Dist. Race

Rep. Edwards, Finch Stress Personalities

By JOHN C. DIARMANTE

MUSCLE Shoals—The heat of a race to have us when you don’t know what’s going on because you’re so busy. Jack Edwards, the Republican U.S. Congressman from the 16th District who is campaigning hard for a second term, said recently, “I’ve never had a race like this.”

Edwards, a 30-year-old lawyer from Alexander City, is a Democrat. Rufin, a 32-year-old former state trooper from Dothan, is in the Republican race.

The two have been fighting hard to win the race, with both men running campaigns of their own.

Edwards has been focusing on economic issues, saying that he believes the country needs a change in leadership to move it forward.

Rufin, on the other hand, has been running a more conservative campaign, focusing on issues such as immigration and voter fraud.

Both men have been putting in long hours on the campaign trail, with Rufin spending much of his time in rural areas, while Edwards has been running ads in major cities.

In the end, it will be up to the voters to decide who they think is the best candidate for the job.

Coldwater Rides Again, Thrills B’ham Audience

By ROBERTS REED

BIRMINGHAM—The coldwater ride was back in town Thursday night, as fans gathered at the BJCC for a night of music and dancing.

The ride, which has been a Birmingham tradition for over 50 years, was held in honor of the late Joe C. Brown, who was the founder of the ride.

The event featured music by local bands, as well as food and drinks. It was a night of fun and excitement for all who attended.

270 KIDS SUSPENDED IN CENADA MARCHES

By LEO FALK

Gulfport, Miss.—Civil rights demonstrators were back in jail Thursday when 270 Negro students marched on Horne High School, the University of Southern Mississippi.

The students were protesting a new policy that would require them to wear uniforms, which they felt was a violation of their civil rights.

The school administration had announced the policy earlier in the week, and the students met to decide on their course of action.

The march began at the local courthouse, where the students were met by police officers.

The marchers were led by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who spoke to the crowd, saying, “We will not be silenced!”

MDP on Ballot

BELHOUHi, Miss.—Mississippi’s Freedom Democratic Party leaders have been working hard to get their party on the ballot, and they are making great progress.

The party is working to register voters in the state, and they have been meeting with local officials to ensure that the party is on the ballot.

The party’s goal is to ensure that all Mississippians have a voice in the election, and they are working hard to make that happen.

Gigantic Parade Winds Up Big Week in Dothan

By MARY ELLEN GALE

TUSKESQ—The white man charged with second-degree murder in the killing of a Negro civil rights worker here last January has been found not guilty of any crime.

The trial was held in Dothan, and the defendant had been sentenced to life in prison for his role in the murder.

The judge ruled that there was not enough evidence to support the charges, and the defendant was released.

The trial was a major event in the community, with hundreds of people attending the proceedings.

The case has been ongoing since the murder, and it has drawn much attention from the outside world.

Segreti’s Attorneys

TUSKESQ—Attorneys for Marvin L. Segreti, the white man charged with second-degree murder in the killing of a Negro civil rights worker here last January, have asked that he be moved out of Meacon County.

The lawyers made their motion Wednesday before Circuit Judge J.T. Jones, who granted the request.

Segreti, who was found not guilty of any crime, had been sentenced to life in prison for his role in the murder.

Myra L. White, the 21-year-old editor of the University of Alabama's Crimson-White newspaper, may be in hot water, just because she happened to be a Democrat. A student newspaper, known for its left-wing views, had a dream about Senator John F. Kennedy coming to the University of Alabama to help the blacks. Mrs. White wrote an editorial, published in the Crimson-White, expressing her views on the situation.

Letters to the Editor

Tuskegee, Ala.: WANTED FOR WHAT? In a recent editorial of the Crimson-White newspaper, you said that Alabama is a state that does not have a history of discrimination against its citizens. Your statement is true, but it is not true of Tuskegee, Alabama, where our school is located.

Your statement also says that the NAACP does not wish to carry on the fight for civil rights. We do wish to carry on the fight, and we have been doing so for many years. We have been working to end discrimination in all areas of life, including education, employment, and housing.

We hope that you will reconsider your statement and that you will recognize the importance of the fight for civil rights.

Sincerely,

Myra L. White

SEGREGATE CASE

The trial is now set for December, 1963, when the State Board of Education will hear the case. The trial will be held in Montgomery, Alabama, where the case was originally filed.

The case involves the State Board of Education and the Tuskegee Institute, a private, non-profit educational institution located in Tuskegee, Alabama. The case seeks to have the State Board of Education order the Tuskegee Institute to desegregate its student body and faculty.

The State Board of Education has refused to grant the Tuskegee Institute a waiver to permit it to continue its discriminatory practices. The Tuskegee Institute has refused to comply with the State Board of Education's order.

The case is pending before the United States District Court for the Middle District of Alabama.

Tuskegee City Council Passes Right Laws

By MYRTLE C. TOLBERT

The City Council of Tuskegee, Ala., has passed a series of right laws that will benefit the city and its residents.

The laws include a new community organizing ordinance, which will provide for the creation of community organizing committees, and a new employment discrimination ordinance, which will provide for the protection of workers from discrimination based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, or age.

The laws are expected to go into effect in January 1965.
DAY AND NIGHT IN HARLEM

TEXT BY HARRY JONES, PHOTOGRAPHY BY JIM PEPPLER

NEW YORK CITY—Harlem is the area where you would probably live if you came to New York. It is where the majority of the colored people of New York live and hustles. Harlem is where civil rights groups asked for, dreamed of, and demonstrated for better conditions. It took a riot to shock the government into pouring millions of dollars into this area.

The money is meant to help relieve the people of some of their frustrations, complaints, unhappiness, hate, and poverty—all that has built up in us to the breaking point because of our exploitation by society.

Where Hustling Is a Way of Life

HARRY JONES

P graphic, the black neighborhood, white cop addicted to drugs. Inside there was a recreation center. With about eight pool tables.

I recently walked through Harlem, where I was born and grew up. It was a beautiful day. I saw a church that was empty. It was called the "House of Hope," a church run by the Rev. O.O. Dempsey, a staunch fighter against dope.

Drug addiction is one of the biggest problems in the community. Our first stop was at the "House of Hope." It was not unusual to find a police officer standing outside. It was typical of all that we saw.

As we were leaving the church, one young man followed us out to the sidewalk. Under the streetlight, he hinted that this was not a gathering of non-violent people.

No Grades, Promotion

BY ROBERT SPIKE

No grades or promotion for first grader Johnny Jackson. He and other children, according to officials, have had several problems.

"We're going to give them a chance," said Superintendent of Schools, Hayes, "because we believe they can learn and benefit from our school system."

"But we also want to set realistic expectations so that all students are challenged."

Johnny Jackson was excited about starting first grade and wanted to make sure he got the grades he needed to move forward in his education. However, his teacher is concerned about his progress and feels that he needs additional support and resources to succeed.

"He's a very bright child," she said, "but he struggles with some reading and math skills."

Johnny's parents are also worried but understand the need for a fair evaluation system.

"We're just hoping that he can catch up with his peers and eventually get the grades he needs to succeed," said his father.

Robert Spike, the school's principal, believes that setting clear goals and providing ongoing support is key to Johnny's success.

"We're committed to helping all students reach their full potential," he said. "And we're doing everything we can to provide the resources they need to succeed."

"We have two ways to handle
this problem of misbehaving teen-agers.
One is to put them in reform schools and not give them a chance to return to the society, that is one way.
The other is to put them out there and help them to become integrated into the society, and we have the right to try both ways to see which one will work."
