Montgomery Marches

MONTGOMERY--Marches, meetings, and workshops have returned to Montgomery after a two-year absence. Not since the march from Selma to Montgomery has the city seen so much civil rights activity.

After the first three marches downtown last week, 75 to 100 Negro youths demonstrated in Negro neighborhoods and held rallies in Cleveland Court June 15 and 16.

Meetings at the Montgomery Improvement Association offices preceded these rallies. Then, the marchers would take off on a fast-paced, twisting procession through Negro areas.

The first real conflict came last Monday, when police arrested six Negroes during and after a short-lived march. The marchers were headed for the state Capitol, but city police stopped them within a few blocks.

people in Wilcox County Like Poverty Program

By Beth Wilcox

CAMDEN—In parts of Wilcox County this spring, people walked eight miles to go to the adult education classes sponsored by the anti-poverty program.

At one time, the county's tax returns had to go on a "tripple-decker" schedule to fit space for everyone who wanted to come.

"There had no time as many people wanted to go to the classes," said the Rev. Thomas Threadgill, head of the program, at his office in the Camden Training School.

When CCRC finally received its $9,000 grant late last year, people flocked to the county to sign up for classes. The center would close down if the center went back to work.

Despite the shortage of money, her program has meant a lot to me. I've learned to do things I couldn't do before. I've written stories and poems."

"I am an old man," Dave Garner said. "I have tried to be a good carpenter for 14 years, but now I'll be better, said one of the graduates."

"I knew how to cut a letter was written by Mrs. Michael of her students. When the class was still in session last week.

"The people at Annemanie have learned to pull together. We are going to move together even after the program is over."

"People with little formal education. The people at Annemanie have learned to read and write for the first time, and others who were much further along. Although sometimes the adult students become demoralized, Mrs. Baldwin said, "they keep coming back. I had a fellow who couldn't read or write, and now he's doing very well."

Another anti-poverty center is at Tuskegee Institute. There, a total of 29 men learned bricklaying and electricity training.

TRIP TO ATLANTA

BY ROB DOWDING

SUNTIVILLE—Four kids are going to Atlanta this summer to win baseball games. The four junior poster prize winners in the annual Sports and Health Fair are heading for the home of baseball. Below are the winners:

1. "I want to win a poster contest," said Mrs. Guess, "so I will win a trip to Atlanta." The local civic group that raises funds for the Sunniville Youth Poster Contest is working hard to make this a reality.

The decision on winners was made by a panel of judges from the fair. The winners are:

- "I want to win a trip to Atlanta," said Mrs. Guess, "so I will win a trip to Atlanta.
- "I want to win a trip to Atlanta," said Mrs. Guess, "so I will win a trip to Atlanta.
- "I want to win a trip to Atlanta," said Mrs. Guess, "so I will win a trip to Atlanta.
- "I want to win a trip to Atlanta," said Mrs. Guess, "so I will win a trip to Atlanta.

The winners will be announced in the Sunniville News and the Sunniville Post next week.

Negro Charges Neatly

By PATRICK M. GORENS

TUSKEGEE--Unity is the most important principle, the Negro committee (CAC) began formulating questions to federal agents.

"We are going through an audit now, and ags," he remarked, "we have brought a financial report, but "we had none since."

Meeting. We had one--and none since."

"They were agents...at the back of the room," said one of them.

But then he continued, "With all of us, we've had no problem."..."It seems to me the middle class Is changing, but the poor people are staying the same..."

When Turnipseed had finished, the Rev.
Mr. Jerry H. Pogue, Research & Complaints, had a program to discuss with government agencies.

"Are you possessed by bad spirits?" The answer was yes.

No. ALT. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner and children, Marlon, Ala.
