Bullock Jury
Clears Negroes
Negroes Nominated

BULGARIAN BULOCK--It seems like a very long time since I was in Bullock County. I didn't realize how much had changed since I was there last. It felt like a different place.

The sky was a deep, rich blue and the air was crisp. I remembered how much I loved the scent of the pine trees and the way the sunlight filtered through them. It was as if time had stood still.

As I walked through the town, I couldn't help but notice the changes. The old church was gone, replaced by a new one that looked more modern. The old post office was still there, but it was now a public library. The courthouse had been renovated and was now a museum.

I met with some of the locals and they were excited to show me around. They told me about all the new businesses that had opened up and the improvements they had made to the town. It was nice to see that they were proud of their community and wanted to make it better.

Overall, my visit to Bullock was a pleasant one. I was glad to see how much had changed and how much had stayed the same. Bullock will always hold a special place in my heart.
Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
I wish to point out to clay, Richard Boudreaux, editor, the vital role that food stamps and food conducts, for the family, plays in the well-being of those in need. A chance to do some good at a time when the need is most acute can be a source of great satisfaction to all concerned.

I wish to point out that the Brightside in 1966 was the first food store to open in the area. It was a important step forward in promoting self-sufficiency and community participation.

Sincerely yours,

W. Price Trinity, Ala.

The problem of segregation and discrimination continues to plague our society. It is important that we all work together to achieve a more just and equitable society.

To the Editor:

Concerning an article I read in The Southern Courier about the integration of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, I would like to point out that the conference was not intended as a political platform. The purpose of the conference was to bring together individuals from different backgrounds to discuss the issues of segregation and discrimination.

Sincerely yours,

T. Johnson, Troy, Ala.

To the Editor:

I am writing to propose an idea for a new project that could benefit our community. It is a proposal for a community Garden Program. This program could provide fresh produce to local schools and community centers.

Sincerely yours,

J. Smith, Selma, Ala.

To the Editor:

I am writing to propose a new policy at the University of Alabama that could benefit our students. The policy would require all professors to incorporate diversity and inclusion training into their courses.

Sincerely yours,

M. Johnson, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

PEACE MARCH and RALLY in ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Ga. -- "Bring Our Boys Home Alive," "Great Not Bombs," "Peace God Don't Let It Happen Again." These were some of the signs carried by peace marchers at last weekend's Hiroshima Day commemoration sponsored by the Atlanta Alliance for Peace and other groups. The Japanese city of Hiroshima was struck by an American atom bomb 22 years ago.

"I marched for peace in Selma, and I'm marching for peace today," said Mrs. Harold Leavelle Washburn. "There's no difference in freedom and peace," SC's Hosea Williams told the 650 people at a Saturday night rally.

Talking about the peace movement, featured speaker Dick Gregory told the marchers, "If you ain't with it, you ought not to be in it."

"Here's no problem," said Mrs.

Mrs. Frost said she thinks people were getting angry. "You can pick on them, and then go--and then you say they're back."

"I don't know where they're going to get it, but they're going to make it very hard for Negroes."

IF SCHOOLS WILL GET U.S. MONEY

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Radio station WREK is trying to improve police-community relations here with a monitering series of current events.

WREK disk jockey Len Martin; Eliza Ford, and Tracy

Larkin are producing an hour program a week in which events are discussed, and how and when the people who came to dance.

The recent raids, held the last in Alabama, are billed as “the kids who find themselves scheme that part of

do it with nothing to it,” Martin said.

He said the goal of the program is “to foster relations between the younger people in the community and the police department and other officials.”

For a full list of current events, call the station.

Charles Gene Martin, an ACT adviser, said that the rev. Mr. White called. He said, "The first thing he taught me was how to fight."

"The man he chose was Horace Haygood," said Howard Tompkins, a 36-year-old employee at the Goodyear tire store. Haygood was offered the job when he was二战 veteran. He said that the plywood that was used to keep the heat off the workers was a "real challenge."

The man at the front line, Leonard Thomas, supervising a group of white men on strike at the Goodyear tire store, said that he would rather work than go on strike.

John Pierce, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, said that the contract for the Goodyear workers would have to be renegotiated.

Robert Long, 42, was a black man who had received a "final offer" from the company. He said that he was going to fight for what he had. He said, "I ain't going to fight for nothing."

Negroes Demonstrate After Holmes Incident

BY RUBEN PATES

LEXINGTON, Miss.--Tempers have been running high in Holmes County during a week of demonstrations and accusations of police brutality.

Joseph Green, a black student at Columbia University in New York, was in Montgomery, Ala., last week. He said they were going to arrest him.

"I was hit several times, fell to the ground. Then I shot fired near my feet. I was pushed into the police car, fell on my feet. I was hit again," he recalled this week.

He said the officers questioned him about the accident.

"I don't know what he meant when he asked me where my car was," he said.

"If you know what I mean, Franklin demonstrated the basic defensive stance. "Head up, butt down. One hand up, one hand down. Knees bent," Russell talked about a problem high school coaches often face: "Suppose your pivot man is 6'2", and he's got to guard a man 6'8"--what do you do?"

"Your little guy has got to dedicate himself, just to keep the ball away," Russell said.

"And when I say dedicated, Franklin demonstrated the basic defensive stance. "Head up, butt down. One hand up, one hand down. Knees bent," Russell talked about a problem high school coaches often face: "Suppose your pivot man is 6'2", and he's got to guard a man 6'8"--what do you do?"

"Your little guy has got to dedicate himself to the idea that this big man is not going to get the ball. This man has to sacrifice himself, just to keep the big guy from getting in under the basket," Russell said.

"And when all else fails," theRootman said, "hit him--he's going to get the ball anyway.

"Big men often need coaching in what to do when they get a rebound," Russell said.

"If a big guy just gets down there and says, 'Look at me, I'm bigger,'" he said, he had to explain. "The only thing you can do when a big guy is rebounding--most of them are terrible anyway. You can tell him to get the ball down-court as fast as he can, and then get back down-court--not walking, running."
