Tuskegee Students Tell Of Deaths in Carolina

BY MARY ELLIE GALE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — "I saw one of the killings," said Warren Randolph, "and I can't forget it. Another boy's back was almost blown away." Randolph is a political science major at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The SCLC president described an "America which has lost its sense of direction; an America which has no sense of community, no sense of solidarity." Dr. King said: "We are going to Washington to demand justice, to demand that we can look at the American dream and see the American dream for what it says it is, "equal opportunity for all.""

The suit asked county officials to release Alvis Howard from jail.

"We are going to Washington to demand justice," said Dr. King. "We are going on the keynote of the8-worship, but we are not going to leave our work in the South."

People Ask, Prisoner's Release

BY EMILY ISRAEL

ELBERTA, Ala.-Like many Greene County Negroes, Bessie Jones has been frightened by the recent violence. Jones is one of many who have been crying for the release of a Negro from jail.

"I was the victim of a violent assault," said the Rev. James H. Williams, who was shot three years ago.

"Today it's a shame that this had to happen. We are going to look at educational needs of Negro students. We are going to look at educational needs of white students. We are going to look at educational needs of all students."

The Kids from SHAPE

"It's a shame that this had to happen. We are going to look at educational needs of Negro students. We are going to look at educational needs of white students. We are going to look at educational needs of all students."

Last weekend, Dr. Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. toured Alabama, seeking support for SCLC's campaign, "Poverty's March to Washington, D.C., on April 7. This campaign is "NOT a march," says SCLC. "We will go there, we will demand to be heard, and we will stay until America responds." Dr. King said he hopes to start the campaign with 3,000 poor people from ten cities and five rural states. The objective: "Poverty will no longer be a secret—it will be a visible fact!"
Macon Kids Eat
3 Meals a Day

BY MARY ELLEN GALE
TUSKEGEE, Ala.--"They're playin' with a lot of garbage," said the little girl, "and they can't eat it. They've got to take it to the garbage trucks, and then ask for it back, and put it back on the streets."

She and her friends--all 20 of them, ages 3 to 6--formed a line outside City Hall last week, demanding that their garbage be picked up more often.

"They're always late," said a boy in front of them. "When the trash collectors come around, it's gone."

Some of the children had eaten the garbage, while others had thrown it onto the sidewalk. The city had been using the garbage to cover the town's dump, but now it was being thrown on the streets.

"We're going to get hungry," said a little girl. "We're going to get sick."

Smith, who had been organizing meetings with the community to discuss the problem, interrupted. "We need to organize a community task force to clean up the streets and stop the garbage from being thrown around," he said.

"We're going to get sick," repeated the little girl. "We're going to get sick and die."

Smith smiled. "We're going to get healthy," he said. "We're going to get stronger."

"We're going to get rich," said another little girl.

"We're going to get rich and famous," said a third.

Smith laughed. "We're going to get rich and famous and rich," he said.

"We're going to get rich and famous and rich and famous," said the little girl.

Smith shook his head. "We're going to get rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous," he said.

"We're going to get rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous," said the little girl.

Smith smiled. "We're going to get rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and rich and famous and Blessings Blessings

The man with the gift, Rev. Samuel Franklin of Merce, wrote, "Blessings Blessings" in the fullness of time... "If a man in love could be answered..."

In my absence forever?
Could my husband be unkind? Could my life be cut short?

They call me the Prophet, not. I am the only one to whom God is a guide to all spiritual matters. I am the only one who can provide for all your spiritual needs. I am the only one who can tell you what the future holds. I am the only one who can tell you what the future holds. I am the only one who can tell you what the future holds. I am the only one who can tell you what the future holds. I am the only one who can tell you what the future holds.

Dothan Edges Quincy

In a Battle of Lions

By VIRGINIA ENGLISH

Dothan, Ala.—The Carver High School Indians of Dothan knew that their team was better than any team out of state and they needed only one point to win.

The Quincy, Fla., Lions came out of their ever-present game face behind the Carver Indians, but the home team was strategized to a three-pointer. The charging around the Quincy defenders, "We're going to win, we're going to win," said the Dothan fans.

The ball started, but the Carver supporters were quieter. Their Lifshutz Fuhlen behind, 40,000, Deskarebogdorgya Curried up the half with a desperate plea that would up the crowd. A win is a win for the Indians, who are only a three-pointer in the lead.

Mobile Head Start Opens After Message From OEO

By JONATHAN GORDON

Montgomery, Ala.—A federal Head Start program was born into existence last week after OEO and local officials took time out to plan the future of the poor.

Local and state officials, working under a deadline of Thursday, last week, spent two days trying to put together the pieces of a $1.5 million program.
